Description

High tech mouse not compatible with your computer?

It can be quite frustrating when you have brought one of these high tech mice to enable you to work more efficiently. The problem with this, is that despite perhaps having the latest Microsoft package, that older PCs feature a PS/2 port which is not compatible with the USB connection of the latest mice, keyboards and technology. You need a device which has the ability to change the input and Hama has just that with the Hama Adapter/Converter, 6-pin Mini DIN Male Plug-USB Type A-Connector, Grey.

Get Compatible With Hama!

The Hama Adapter/Converter, 6-pin Mini DIN Male Plug-USB Type A-Connector, Grey, is a USB to PS/2 adapter which provides the perfect solution for connecting a new input device to your computer. Simply plug this compact adapter into any PS/2 port then connect your Microsoft or Logitech USB combi mouse. This adapter is perfect for use with older laptops or desktop that only feature PS/2 ports, enabling the connection in a matter of seconds. It is grey in colour, therefore will blend in with most computer equipment and is short to prevent lots of unnecessary cable cluttering up the area by the computer.
